RDG 012 CORE CURRICULUM COMPETENCIES

This course develops communication skills through introducing effective reading strategies, such as: previewing, organizing information, identifying the main idea and supporting detail identification. Reading activities are designed to emphasize vocabulary development, comprehension and reading strategies.

This course develops critical thinking skills by developing inferential thinking skills in preparation for RDG 100.

Upon completion students should be able to determine main ideas and supporting details; recognize basic patterns of organization; draw conclusions and understand words in context
Course Goals
The following list of course goals will be addressed in the course. These goals are directly related to the performance objectives. (*designates a CRUCIAL goal)

1. Use effective reading strategies associated with the three stages of active reading: pre-reading, reading, and review.
2. Determine word meanings through effective vocabulary strategies including context clues, prefixes and suffixes, Greek and Latin roots, compound words, and dictionary skills.
3. Determine topic, main ideas, and supporting details in selected academic reading materials. *
4. Identify and recognize the common organizational patterns used in textbooks.
5. Use appropriate strategies for reading and learning from textbooks including textbook organization, textbook features, note taking, and study skills.
6. Use effective study strategies for learning from textbooks including outlining, mapping, paraphrasing, and summarizing. *
7. Read information in graphics and visuals such as bar and line graphs, pie charts, organizational charts, drawings, maps, and diagrams.
8. Understand how to read and interpret objective and essay test questions.
9. Understand how efficient readers adjust their reading rates according to their purpose for reading.
10. Use strategies for improving reading rate and speed while maintaining comprehension. *
11. Use background knowledge to infer an author’s meaning and draw conclusions about both stated and unstated ideas presented in texts. *
12. Use critical thinking skills to distinguish between fact and opinion and to evaluate an author’s argument and supporting evidence. *

Student Contributions
Students will complete assigned reading moles during class time.
Students should attend and participate in every scheduled workshop.
Students will be ready to work on computers at the beginning of the lab time.

Below 60 = F

Course Evaluation
The grade for RDG 012 is based on a combination of attendance, participation, completed activities, and grades on assigned work.

RDG 032 and RDG 012 comprise a unique teaching/learning unit and work in conjunction with each other. The final grade for the RDG 032/012 course/workshop reflects the unique relation between the courses. The final grade is a combination of work completed in the two courses which count as follows: RDG 032 65%
RDG 012 35%
Course Schedule
The class meets for 1 hour per week.

GRADING METHODOLOGY
The final grade must be 70 or more (a grade “C” or better) in order to pass the course and progress to the next course. Students absent from an examination or presentation will receive a “0” grade for the examination unless other arrangements are made with the individual instructor prior to the examination or presentation day or on the examination or presentation day before the test/presentation is scheduled to be given.

The student is responsible for notifying the instructor for the reason of the absence. It is also the responsibility of the student to contact the appropriate instructor to arrange to make up the examination. Arrangements may be completed by telephone.

If the instructor is not available, a message should be left on the instructor’s voice mail AND with another member of the faculty or administrative assistant. The make-up exam will be scheduled and the instructor will decide the method of examination. Messages sent by other students are unacceptable.
